MEETING ENDS IN CONFUSION

MAYOR OLIVER DEFIES PENTICTON ALDERMEN

Controversial Pipeline Issue Boils At Council

(Special to The Daily Courier)

PENTICTON—Civic government ground to an alarming standstill in Penticton last night after Mayor C. E. Oliver refused to call for a vote on a controversial irrigation pipeline issue.

Boiling for several months now, the matter reached an impasse last night when the mayor refused to accede to a council majority. "I won't put the question," the mayor stated emphatically relaxing in his chair to await developments.

Half an hour of stormy discussions as to whether the mayor had the legal right to defy his council followed with the meeting finally being adjourned without any normal business being done.

When challenged as to his right to dictatorial powers, the mayor replied that aldermen were not elected "to abide by the majority where there's a mistake. That isn't democracy. You are damned fools if you order that pipe."

Alderman Elsie MacCleave protested the mayor's attitude.

"I've grown a trifle impatient with the constant aspersions you are casting both on the integrity and intelligence of this council," she said. "I would suggest that you treat us with the same courtesy as we have so far treated you."

Mayor Oliver appeared amazed. See MAYOR OLIVER—Page 10

DIDN'T GET THE "BREAKS"

When Fred Ball of Kelowna decided to do a spot of shopping this morning, his car tried to go along with him. Above, the vehicle is seen just after it has hopped the curb and bashed in the window of a local departmental store on Bernard Avenue. Fred, a bit unhappy about it all, said the "breaks" had failed him at the last moment, as his brakes failed to hold when he nosed into the curb.

A window dresser had just left the show-window less than two minutes before the car struck the building, shattering two panes of glass. (Courier staff photo — prints available.)

Winfield Man Killed On Hope-Princeton

PRINCETON (CP) — Police identified one of two men killed when their truck crashed into a rock face on the Hope-Princeton Highway early today as Joseph Peter Englehart of Winfield, B.C., driver of the truck. Police said they have not been able to identify the second man.

The men were killed when their truck went out of control on the steep Sugar Curve Hill, 11 miles west of here. An RCMP officer said the load of building materials slipped forward and crushed the cab "like an accordion."

Police used cutting torches to free the bodies.

Jobless Figure Drops Sharply

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian employers 127,000 more than a year ago in April stepped up at a earlier. The government described the increase in employment between March and April as "significantly greater" than the normal improvement for this time of year.

The government reported today that at April 18 there were 445,000 unemployed compared with 525,000 a month earlier and 5,064,000 with jobs against 5,522,000 in March.

It was the third successive month of rising employment for Canada since unemployment in the winter high of 538,000 in January.

The post-war peak of unemployment was 597,000 in March of last year. The April unemployment figure for this year was 27,000 below that of April, 1958.

Those with jobs in April numbered 4,917,000.

French Jet May Join RCAF Ranks

OTTAWA (CP) — The French Mirage Mark III jet plane has joined the ranks of aircraft being considered by the RCAF for adoption into its air division in Europe, it was learned reliably today.

The RCAF has had teams in France — the Dassault Company of Paris manufactures the plane — to inspect the plane and is reported pleased with its performance.

The Mirage, now in service with the French air force, has a speed of more than twice the speed of sound and can be used as a high-level interceptor or low-level attack plane.

The government has not yet made any decision about re-equipping the 12-squadron RCAF air division in Europe and there has been no indication that a decision is close.

It is considered likely that any new plane for the air division would be made under licence in Canada by A. V. Roe (Canada) Limited.

Truckers Will Protest Bill

Truckers from all points in the Okanagan valley are expected to attend the meeting at Rutland tonight to protest Bill 108.

Harold Hildred, president of the Okanagan Truck Loggers Association says he is hoping the meeting will spark similar gatherings all over the province.

He states all owners of trucks over three tons should be vitally concerned with the new bill, which he claims calls for increases of as much as three per cent in licence fees for some trucks.

The parley will be held in the Rutland fire hall.

Skin-Diver Will Tackle Raging Similkameen

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP) — Skin-diver Al Kiehlbauch of Vernon planned to search the raging Similkameen River near here today for the bodies of two men whose car was seen to leave the Hope-Princeton Highway, 20 miles east of here, Friday night.

ONE BRIDGE LESS IN FIVE BRIDGES

Five Bridges district, on eastern boundary of Kelowna, has numerous bridges over Mill (Kelowna) Creek, but with creek in flood stage, one bridge was removed on Brookside Ave. this morning. Old bridge, seldom used, was impeding water flow and considered hazardous. Here public works employee DICK GOODBURN of Winfield is helping set up barrier. Logs and timbers that were part of bridge can be seen in foreground. Creek level rose seven inches in past 24 hours, is over bank in some places. (Courier staff photo.)

U.S. To Meet Hoffa Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate committee urged today that Congress meet head-on James R. Hoffa's threat to call a general strike in the United States if labor unions are subjected to anti-trust laws.

Democratic Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas said he will introduce soon a bill to apply the anti-trust laws to transportation unions. He gave no further details. Anti-trust laws have been aimed in the past at monopolies in business in industry.

Hoffa, president of the teamsters union, told a Brownsville, Tex., audience Tuesday that organized labor's answer to such legislation should be to have all its collective-bargaining contracts expire on the same date, and then strike.

NATION-WIDE WALKOUT "We can call a primary strike all across the nation that will straighten out the employers once and for all," Hoffa said.

Hoffa has been working to organize a conference of various transportation unions. He spoke at a district convention of the International Longshoremen's Association but indicated he was suggesting a strike by all labor unions.

The suggestion was quickly rejected by AFL-CIO President.

Human Element Main Reason For Most District Accidents

The Central Okanagan, it would seem, has had in recent weeks more than its fair share of fatal accidents and also of potentially-fatal accidents. Surely we have run full cycle and may look forward to a long period without any highway fatalities.

And yet, if this is to be obtained, there would seem to be one correction necessary. Looking back over these accidents during the past few weeks, they would appear to have one common element: there was no mechanical failure to cause the accident; the human element was at fault. This, we think, was generally true of almost every fatal accident this district has had during the past few months. Human errors in judgment.

Take, for instance, the regrettable bridge accident on Saturday night. The red stop light was on; the alarm bell was ringing; the red and white barrier was down; lights shone on the barrier making it clearly visible for a long distance. Yet, the skid marks of the car indicate that the brakes were not applied until within ninety feet of the barrier. What happened? We will never know for sure of course, but it is not reasonable to assume that the driver, a local man fully aware of bridge conditions, had allowed his mind to concentrate on something other than driving safely? Certainly, in this instance, no blame can be attached to the bridge operation.

The other day, in the rush-hour period a youth drove out of the City Park exit, crossed Abbott to the centre of the street and then swung back in front of south-bound traffic to stop at the west, his left, curb. He caused several southbound cars to jam on their brakes to come to a sudden stop. True, there was not an accident, but it was not that youth's fault there was not a fatal accident. In this case, he either showed poor judgment or he deliberately tried to beat the traffic and failed.

The point we are trying to make is simply that, if we are to avoid these accidents, everyone of us—every driver and every pedestrian—must pay a little more attention to our activities, must keep our minds on what we are doing and not let them wander a.. over the place.

There probably is not a single driver who can honestly say he has never done a foolish thing while driving a car. He may have done it and gotten away with it, like the youth emerging from the park, but these things have a habit of catching up with one eventually. And they seem to be catching up with a number of us here in the Central Okanagan.

If we are to avoid these fatal and near-fatal accidents, there is only one thing we can do: watch that "human element". This, after all, is just another way of saying "Drive carefully". And driving carefully means having your wits about you at all times.

Unless we in this area do drive more cautiously we may expect our already long list of serious accidents to rapidly grow even longer.

Why Not A Warning Light?

On Saturday night there was a regrettable accident on Okanagan Lake bridge. From eye-witness accounts and other facts available, there can be no blame attached to the bridge or its operation.

There is an approach warning sign some distance from the lift span. The red stop-light was on. The barrier was down and it was brightly lighted so that its red and white stripes were easy to see; the warning bell was ringing. All necessary precautions had been taken by the bridge authorities to prevent just such an accident as did occur.

True, the hooter was not going, it having been discontinued some months ago. Even had it been blowing, it would have served no good purpose because it simply is not heard in a closed, rapidly-moving car.

This newspaper, reading the available facts, can attach no responsibility whatsoever to the bridge or its operation. However, some months ago, this newspaper in this column did make a suggestion which it feels should be repeated at this time.

Granting that all reasonable precautions have been taken, but also recognizing that the human element being what it is accidents will happen, some months ago this newspaper suggested that additional warning lights be placed some distance, say a hundred yards or more, away from the actual lift span. The light would be green when the bridge is down and flashing red as a warning when the span is raised. True, there are worded signs to this effect at approximately the suggested places and these serve the same warning purpose. However, it does seem that a light as suggested would prove a more effective warning.

UNITED KINGDOM OPINION

Major Controversy Shaping Over State Aid To Schools

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent For The Kelowna Daily Courier

LONDON — A major political-religious controversy which may have its effect on general election results is brewing and is growing in intensity in the United Kingdom. It is reminiscent of the controversy which arose in Ontario politics during the regime of the late Mitchell F. Hepburn as premier of that province, and the issue is the same—the making of grants of public funds to assist in the building of Roman Catholic secondary schools.

The British government, however, is somewhat different from the Ontario one in that it cuts right across party lines. It arises from the scheme which is being put forward by the government to subsidize the building of Catholic secondary schools, as well as Church of England schools.

The Free Churches have declared their implacable opposition to these grants, describing them as a subsidy of between 10 and 15 million pounds for the spread of Catholic doctrine. Leaders of the Free Churches are meeting with Non-Conformist members of parliament, Socialists and Conservatives, to wage a bitter fight against the proposed plan.

DIFFICULT POSITION
These members are in a difficult position. They fear the Roman Catholics will use their powerful influence at election time against candidates who oppose state aid for their schools. On the other hand, they are demanding that the Free Churches should be just as outspoken, and should mobilize the Nonconformist vote in their support.

The Socialists, of the two parties are in the more embarrassing position. The Welsh Socialists are the spearhead of the Nonconformist group. On the other hand, it is accepted that the majority of Catholics normally vote Socialist. So that on the question of whether there should be state aid for new Roman Catholic secondary schools, they are between the devil and the deep sea.

ing held in Quebec. It is definitely under consideration. I have learned from an authoritative source. Five places are listed as possible locations—Vienna, Geneva, New York, San Francisco and Quebec.

At the moment, British opinion is inclined in favor of Vienna, because of certain psychological factors involved. New York can be ruled out, and for a reason which indicates that the date of the summit meeting is already in the minds of the British government.

Mr. Macmillan has stated quite bluntly that it would be far too hot in New York for a meeting in August. There is little enthusiasm here for San Francisco as the meeting place, although it is being strongly mentioned in United States circles. So the selection seems to boil down to Quebec or Geneva, with memories of the abortive Geneva conference of 1955 militating against its selection.

NOT TOO OPTIMISTIC
I have also learned, authoritatively, that the British government is not too optimistic about the prospects of a successful outcome of the present foreign ministers' meeting in Geneva. It will be either a short conference ending in failure or a long-drawn out session ending in a moderate measure of success. The key to the situation is Khrushchev's bluntly-expressed view that foreign ministers are useless if they have lost the last three years' worth of appendages to the governmental coaches.

So far as Russia is concerned, he alone makes the decisions, and his foreign ministers may well have been instructed to agree to nothing at the Geneva meeting, other than the making of arrangements for the summit meeting. He may, however, agree to some progress being made on minor points, but he obviously will want to leave any major matters for discussion by the heads of states.

In the local municipal elections decided at the time of writing, the Conservatives are regaining some of the ground which they have lost in the last three years. Out of some 984 seats for which returns have been made to date, the Conservatives have registered 40 gains and 18 losses. The Socialists have gained 19 and lost 34. The Liberals have gained two and lost five, and Independents, who are anti-socialist, have gained 8 and lost 12. The Conservatives have to date a net gain of 15.

In Scotland, the Conservative gains were quite pronounced, although the complete figures are not available.

UN Watchdog Over Hungary Claims Canada's Role Great

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—The big, bushy-browed New Zealander plumped himself into a chair and opened the interview with the declaration that he always had found Canada and Canadians to be "extravagantly congenial."

There was no hint of the stilted praise of the professional diplomat, though the tribute came from a man regarded in many world capitals as one of the ablest and most astute diplomats on the international scene. The waves carried a ring of obvious sincerity.

Sir Leslie Munro, former president of the United Nations General Assembly and now watchdog for the UN over the remnants of the Hungarian revolution, shifted his bulk—he stands six feet two with a frame to match—and recalled Canada's role in UN affairs during his term in the presidency in 1957 and 1958.

"Canada," he said, "always has been a power of very great influence in the UN. She always has played a great part in UN affairs and her voice is listened to in the councils there with great respect. I call it the voice of an impartial and disinterested power."

BUSY SCHEDULE

Sir Leslie has covered a lot of territory — both diplomatically and geographically — since he came to Washington in 1952 to serve simultaneously as New Zealand's ambassador to the United States and its permanent representative to the UN. He has served on a number of UN committees, including three terms as president of the Security Council.

At the same time he has managed, without show of weariness, to keep up a schedule of visits abroad and speaking engagements on this continent that would tire the most dedicated civil servant. Along the way he has acquired a batch of honorary degrees from American universities and a knighthood, bestowed upon him by the Queen in 1955.

He gave up his appointments as New Zealand ambassador and UN representative eight months ago. In December the UN appointed him its special representative to report on developments arising out of the Hungarian revolution. Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to the UN, said Sir Leslie was admirably qualified for the job, and added:

"We, the sponsors of this draft resolution, intend that Sir Leslie will be the watchdog of the United Nations. We cannot now foresee exactly what his tasks will be. . . . He may be able to bring about some improvement in the situation or at least prevent it from growing worse."

Interviewed between trips in and out of New York, Sir Leslie said he could not discuss his study of the Hungarian situation until he reports to the UN, probably later this year—"but you can say that I am working assiduously at it."

Sir Leslie turned to diplomacy after a career as lawyer, University professor, writer and radio commentator. He was born in Auckland in 1901 and spent his school days there. He studied law at the University of New Zealand, practised law and was dean of the faculty of law at Auckland.

EDITED NEWSPAPER
Before and during the Second World War he was a radio broadcaster and newspaper columnist on international affairs. He became editor of the New Zealand Herald, a leading daily published in Auckland, in 1942 and held the post until he became ambassador to Washington.

He has found North Americans, he said, more intensely interested in the UN than any other peoples he knows. To help the average man grasp the problems facing the world organization, he has written a book about the UN, scheduled for publication this fall.

"This is a book for the man on the street—not the scholar or the lawyer or diplomat," he said. "It sets out the problem of the UN in a manner that the man on the street can understand."

Sir Leslie recalled with affection his last visit to Canada in 1957 and said he and Lady Munro hope to return soon, as "we have a great many friends in Canada."

His time nowadays is taken with lectures, his Hungarian assignment and odd chores for the UN. He returned recently from Korea, where he successfully persuaded the government to sign an agreement dealing with the future of the Allied war cemetery in Korea.

He and Lady Munro now make their home in Washington, where their two married daughters, plus several grandchildren, live.

NEW YORK (AP)—The human eye and mind form a remarkable computer, capable of seeing full-color pictures when it might appear that only two colors exist.

A physicist flashed pictures on a screen originating in lights of only two colors, such as red and white, green and blue or even two shades of yellow.

But regardless of what pairs of colors were used, the picture appeared in full color to the audience of physicists and physics students at Columbia University.

The demonstrations exhibited a new theory of color offered by Dr. Edwin H. Land, president and research director of the Polaroid Corporation.

The experiments, he said, upset the theories of color formulated by Sir Isaac Newton in the 17th century.

Land has found that light of two different wave lengths in varying intensities stimulates the eye to see the full range of color, when, individually, the wave lengths might appear to be red and white or green and blue or two shades of a single color.

He first described his experiment before the National Academy of Sciences in a meeting here Nov. 20, 1957. At that time he flashed a picture of a blonde girl in a green sweater on a screen, although the picture was projected in only white and red light.

At that time he had no explanation for the strange phenomenon he had discovered.

He and his co-workers had taken two black-and-white photographs of the girl, one with a red filter that shut out the shorter wave lengths and one with a green filter which shut out the longer wave lengths.

When the pictures were projected, both slides were used. Red light was shown through the red filtered slide and white light through the green filtered slide. When the two pictures were superimposed on a screen, the result was a full-color picture of a blonde in a green sweater.

Now Land explains, it seems that the black and white slides controlled the intensities of the wave lengths of light.

The two mixed wave lengths, arranged in the varying intensities of the image, stimulate the full range of colors in the eye and mind of the viewer.

W.L.C. Greer, district geologist, said there is a slim chance of prospectors discovering base metals by surface findings in the settled parts of the Precambrian shield.

Since the latest finds have been made by geophysicists, Mr. Greer urged younger prospectors to invest in equipment and make an effort to learn something of geophysics.

"It'll be tough going since equipment is expensive and three or four years will be required to gain the experience," he said, "but you'll find the effort will prove invaluable."

Mr. Greer felt the prospectors should turn to other materials not as heavily sought after as base metals. He suggested asbestos and lithium and industrial minerals.

He told the meeting that the Geo Find in the Manitowish area of Northern Ontario in 1953 was the last base metal discovery in Canada made by surface mining.

"If we prepared a summary over the past 10 years of mining discoveries," he said, "it works out 10 - to - one for the geophysicist."

MILLIONAIRES' TOWN

7,128 Live There But Nothing Sold

By LEONARD MILLIMAN

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — The only thing you can buy in Hillsborough is a telephone call. And you can do that in only two places.

Aside from these two rarely-used phone booths, you can't spend a dime in this town, incorporated in 1910 to preserve its rolling hills and wooded ravines as a playground for San Francisco millionaires.

The polo grounds and the fox hunting are gone, a few inexpensive $25,000 homes have crept in but the town council is still a gold-plated, hand-picked group of prominent San Franciscans.

This town of 7,128 has two country clubs but no hospitals and no churches.

If you want a pack of cigarettes, a newspaper, a cup of coffee—anything that costs money except a phone call or landed property—you'll have to go to the neighboring cities of San Mateo or Burlingame.

Winding streets still follow the meandering course of 1913 carriage routes. As a concession to progress, new street developments will have gutters, but not sidewalks.

With all of its two-car garages—that's a minimum requirement of the building code—Hillsborough has an 11-year record of no pedestrian deaths.

We don't kill any pedestrians because there isn't any place for them to walk," says Police Chief W. J. Wisnom.

A stranger walking in town wouldn't get far before a police car pulled up and made polite inquiries about his business.

Homes range from a 98-room French chateau where Countess Lillian Remillard Dandini loves to stage opera performances for her friends, through estate mansions, down to ranch-type suburban homes largely in the $40,000 to $80,000 range.

County clubbers created Hillsborough to protect their way of life and escape high taxes when the towns of San Mateo and Burlingame began to spread into the millionaires' playground 20 miles south of San Francisco.

THE VICTORIA MERRY-GO-ROUND

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA — Premier Bennett was a genial, smiling host at a government dinner to honor Dr. W. A. McAdam, who recently retired as B.C. agent-general in London, after 30 years in British Columbia House, in the lower reaches of the teeming British capital's famous Regent Street, a stone's throw from Buckingham Palace.

Dr. and Mrs. McAdam are now living in Victoria. At the dinner Dr. McAdam told how he had come to Vancouver Island in 1910 as a Scottish immigrant. For a time he was a bank clerk and then a clerk in a government office. Though he loves London there's only one place he can really call home — Vancouver Island.

To the surprise of everyone, for the premier is a strict teetotaler, and frowns on liquor, two dinner wines were served at the McAdam dinner, but there were no cocktails and no liquors. It was one of the Empress Hotel's best dinners—broiled filet mignon, probably $7.50 a plate. But whatever has happened to the dear old Empress? There were no fingerbolls. Likely they only come with a $10 a plate dinner. If fingerbolls ever disappear from the Empress that will be the end of everything.

Dr. McAdam was a distinguished-looking honor guest. It's difficult to believe he's 69, or anywhere near it—tall and slim, with silver-white hair. He could be a movie and stage star, a matinee idol of 30 years ago, grown older with grace and charm and a certain courtliness.

TRIBUTE TO WORK
Everyone paid tribute to Dr. McAdam's work for B.C. in London. One of his former bosses, Herbert Anscomb, made the hit speech of the evening. Mr. Anscomb, when he was minister of finance in the Coalition government, was McAdam's chief.

You know, there's no one like this man Anscomb when it comes to speech-making, no matter where, or what the occasion. He always knows what to say and he says it with punch and humor and brevity and a merry twinkle in his eye. What a pity it is that he's no longer in our public life.

However, there are rumors that perhaps he'll try for a comeback. Something went out of our Legislature when Herb Anscomb was defeated in 1952. Since then he has been living in his shell, which is a great shame, for he has much to offer to British Columbia, if only the people will have him.

The premier said Dr. McAdam may think he has retired, but that the government, after he has had a rest, will make plenty of use of him, one way or another. That likely means McAdam will be appointed to various government commissions of enquiry into this and into that. Governments like to have a man of McAdam's stature handy, to act as a sort of trouble shooter, when and if necessary.

SEE HOPE

The Conservatives of B.C. are naturally jubilant at the sweeping Conservative victory in Manitoba. They see in the result in that province a great deal of hope for them in the next B.C. election, sometime next year, though the premier says it may not come until 1961.

The B.C. Conservatives' chief headache is the leadership. Deane Finlayson is a personable young man, full of ideas and drive, but he has no seat in the Legislature, and for a politician leader to be without a legislative seat is to be like a king without a throne—entirely impotent. Finlayson has certainly tried often enough to get elected, but the voters would have no part of him, and in that frustrating state of events lies the Conservatives' biggest worry.

Rain, Damp Grounds Fail To Halt May Day Plans

RUTLAND — The grounds were dampened, but not the spirits, at the Rutland May day celebrations, Sunday and Monday.

The softball tournament started Sunday with Club 13 defeating Rutland Rams 15-1. Vernon Kai Hotels downing Kelowna Blue Caps 6-2, Rutland Rovers winning a close one from Club 13 by a score of 5-4, and then going on to defeat Vernon Kai Hotel 10-2.

The finals scheduled for the Monday, had to be cancelled and will be played next Sunday starting at 1 p.m., when the Rams meet the Blue Caps, the winner plays Club 13 and the winner of this contest play the Rovers at 4:00 p.m.

On Monday the sports program was restricted to children's races, both the softball and the baseball being cancelled.

The parade was held in the early afternoon, even with a steady drizzle of rain. There were many original ideas in the floats that made up the half-mile-long parade, including a dog-doll house, which it was intended should be raffled, but will be done at a later date.

PARADE WINNERS

Prize winners in the parade were — Commercial: Rutland Waterworks District; 2, Bob's Esso Service; 3 Central Tractor Service.

Service organizations—1 Rutland Board of Trade; 2 Seventh-day Pathfinders Club. The Board of Trade float was a remarkably fine one, being covered with thousands of hand-made paper flowers, on which many people worked long hours in its preparation.

Judges were Mrs. R. Ruffi and George Reith. Organizer of the parade, to whom most of the credit must go, was Otto Graf. Vernon's McIntosh Band provided color and spirit with the music and costumes, that offset the effect of the lowering clouds.

Upon reaching Centennial Park the parade turned in through the entrance gateway and formed up around the dais erected for the queens. W. Hawker, elementary school principal, officiated at these ceremonies, introducing the queens.

Miss Cynthia Russo, last year's centennial queen, led the party, and performed the crowning ceremonies, crowning first little Linda Cross, as the May queen, to reign over the children's sports and festivities, and Miss Marian Olive, "Miss McIntosh", who fills the dual roles of Rutland's queen and also will be the candidate of the board of trade for Kelowna's Lady-of-the-Lake.

Following the crowning, gifts were presented to the queens, and to the May queen's attendant princesses, Bernice Yeast, and Geraldine Franke. Other royalty in attendance included last year's centennial princesses, Miss Leona Hoffman and Miss Joan Piddocke, and four attractive young ladies who were runners-up in the Miss McIntosh contest: Miss Dolores Bach, Miss Mavis Sauer, Miss Marylin Campbell and Miss Wendy Curtis. Maypole dances were cancelled due to the weather.

PET PARADE

A pet parade was also held inside the park. The winners were as follows:

Decorated bicycles—1, Marlene Henning; 2, Lynn Stearns; 3, Everett Marsh.

Decorated tricycles—1, Doreen Showler; 2, Mark Kellerman.

Cats—1, Marie and Shellagh Morrison; 2, Carol Lentz; 3, Sherry Cox.

Kittens—1, Marie Beardmore; 2, Christie Sheerbeck; 3, Donna McLeod.

Large dogs—1, Lester Chase; 2, Kathy Edstrom; 3, Valerie Lambert.

Small dogs—1, Bruce McKinley; 2, Roger Wigglesworth; 3, Diane Mikkleson.

Pups—1, Len Hagel; 2, Velma Chase; 3, Ray Chase.

Chickens—1, Martin Madsen; 2, David Madsen; 3, Stewart Madsen.

Birds—1, Lee Van Steinberg; 2, Rosemarie Horning.

The board of trade operated midway and refreshment booths. All proved popular and a good number of residents remained on the scene for most of the afternoon.

Committee heads who deserve credit for their work in connection with the Rutland May day celebrations are John Ivens, chairman of the park society; Hugh Fitzpatrick, board of trade, and Clarence Kellerman the vice-president, Mrs. Bert Showler, secretary of the park society and Paul Bach, in charge of sports.

LOCAL MOVIE COLUMN

Darryl F. Zanuck's "The Roots of Heaven", directed by John Huston and starring Errol Flynn, Juliette Greco, Trevor Howard, Eddie Albert and Orson Welles, begins a three-night stand at the Paramount theatre Thursday.

"The Roots of Heaven" is based on Romain Gary's prize-winning novel about an idealist who goes to Africa to live among the elephants whom he believes to be the last remaining "roots of heaven".

He is generally disappointed with civilization and launches a private campaign against all hunters, whether for hobby or for professional purposes.

Producer Zanuck, Director Huston and a company of 120 ventured deep into the Cameroons and virtually built a tiny outpost of civilization to produce the film. A total of 600 giant beasts were captured on film in one sweeping motion of the Cinemascope cameras.

Ditch Repairs At Peachland

PEACHLAND — A small slide in the Peachland irrigation ditch, near Spring Creek, last week resulted in having the water turned off for a time. A log crib was put in later at the bottom of the slide.

About 60 youngsters, aged 9 to 12, showed up for Pee Wee softball last week. Five teams will be playing every Tuesday and Wednesday evening for the next two months.

Don Warren was the winner of the silver trophy in the senior boys relay race, at the Kiwanis track meet in Penticton. He also won first and third ribbons. Don is a grade 13 student, and attends high school in Kelowna, although his home is in Peachland.

PTA president Mrs. Norman Bradbury and also Mrs. Arthur Kopp attended the annual meeting of the PTA council, held in Kelowna last week. Mrs. Kopp was elected social convener for the ensuing year.

Local Library Given Spread In Periodical

The RAIC Journal (national architectural publication for the profession, in its April issue, included a story about the Okanagan regional library building in Kelowna.

The Journal issue, dealing with "Libraries in Canada Today", has pictures and accompanying articles on only five libraries in Western Canada—one each from Manitoba, and Saskatchewan, and three from British Columbia, Vancouver, New Westminster and Kelowna.

Two pages are devoted to Kelowna's library, showing the outside, the reading room and the floor plan, as well as an outline description. The issue of the RAIC Journal groups libraries into various categories and the Kelowna branch of the Okanagan regional library shares the regional category with New Westminster and a Maritime library.

"Traditional Kelowna", the article states, "found the building rather controversial, since pierced concrete, exposed pumice block, Solux, plastic skylights, slab heating and cork tile on concrete were all new to the area at the time."

The building was designed by local architect Michael E. Utley for the library board, under chairman W. B. Hughes-Games and librarian Muriel Floukes.

Soviet Explorers Will Trek Across Ice Cap In Foam-Rubber Armchairs

By VINCENT BUIST

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet explorers who will trek across the Antarctic ice cap this year will do so in foam-rubber armchairs and in air-conditioned comfort.

Russian engineers have built a new, advanced type of Antarctic vehicle which is hermetically sealed and can sleep six people.

Three of the vehicles already have successfully passed their trials near the South Pole and will be used by the fourth Soviet Antarctic expedition when it sets out later this year.

This will be the longest Antarctic trek in history—more than 1,000 miles longer than the Commonwealth journey led by Sir Vivian Fuchs and Sir Edmund Hillary.

The builders of the new Russian snow tractor claim that the crew can travel across the ice cap and carry out a complicated program of seismic depth recording and other research without stepping outside the cosy interior of the vehicle.

CURTAINS FOR PORTHOLES

At the end of the day's work, while blizzards rage outside, the crew will be able to take warm showers before signalling the cook to serve dinner.

Mail from home, dropped by aircraft, can be read under the tractor's own electric table lamps.

Although the tractor is, in fact, a travelling laboratory, every effort has been made to preserve the home-like touch.

Curtains strung across the nine portholes through which the crew view the world of ice and snow outside serve both to keep out the glare and to remind the men of civilization.

Oil Tankers Now Carrying Wine, Wheat

VANCOUVER (CP)—Oil tankers are being used to carry wheat for cargoes due to the world-wide slump in the oil charter market.

But the 12,000-ton British tanker Charlton Venus loaded a full cargo of wheat here recently. Her normal cargo is gasoline.

On the previous voyage she transported 11,000 tons of wine from Chile to France.

Thus in three voyages she carried gasoline, wine and wheat. It was the first time that wine had been carried in steel tanks.

To fit the Charlton Venus for the wine cargo, the ship's tanks were coated with three types of special paint to make them resistant to both wine and gasoline.

The work was done in Rotterdam and entailed erection of scaffolding in the tanks and a thorough sand-blasting before the paint was applied.

Relining of the tanks was not completed in time for the charter so the ship took a special painting crew of 12 and a Lloyd's surveyor to Chile to finish the job en route.

The wine was discharged at Rouen and was found to be in perfect condition. The Chilean wine was shipped to France due to the failure of the French grape harvest last summer.

England's John Davis was a first of the great Arctic explorers. United Nations' metallurgist now reaching West Greenland in 1587, is making a survey of rich iron the walls of the living compartment, which is cut off from the radio room, the navigator and driver and other purely functional sections of the tractor. Powerful air conditioning plants send jets of warm air through nozzles into every corner of the interior and between the double-thickness glass portholes to prevent frosting.

Warmth is kept inside by eight layers of capron cotton, each layer covered with airtight cloth, attached like skins to the aluminium and steel frame. Automatic fire extinguishers complete the devices installed for the comfort and safety of the explorers.

IF IT HOLDS TOGETHER

Nigeria Country That Will Dominate "Black Africa"

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Nigeria is the country that will dominate "Black Africa" in the new era of independence — if it holds together.

Composed of a bewildering mixture of 250 tribes, divided among three individualistic regional governments, this old British colony, to be granted independence Oct. 1, 1960, seems to have trouble built into its foundations.

But with a slowly burgeoning economy and a group of sophisticated political leaders, Nigeria with some help and much mutual tolerance—should emerge as the dominant force in the new Africa.

Busy with an election campaign which will determine the founding government of the new state, Nigeria's leaders have not expressed themselves explicitly on the "United States of Africa" proposed by Ghana's Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah. There is a strong body of feeling for the looser organization of African states proposed by President William V. S. Tubman of Liberia.

SOUTH AFRICA DETESTED

Joseph Modupe Johnson, Nigerian minister of labor and internal affairs, said in an interview that "South Africa is doing more to unite the Africans than the United States and Great Britain together."

"The South African racial policy is such that every African detests South Africa and its methods," he added. "I don't know of any African who would not willingly bear arms tomorrow against South Africa. If South Africa continues its policy in the future, I fear there must be an open clash as soon as we feel strong enough."

Victor Mukete, minister of research and information, said: "We are preoccupied with internal problems."

The most pressing of these is that of preparing an underdeveloped country, its economy built largely on cocoa, palm oil and peanuts, for emergence into a world filled with the 20th century's wonders.

Nigerian industry is of little significance. The transportation system is inadequate and holds back economic development. The country's trade balance has been persistently unfavorable since 1955, and this makes it difficult to import tools needed by a modern state.

There are bright spots in the picture. British oil interests have spent $40,000,000 exploring successfully for oil. Another $20,000,000 will be spent during the next few years developing the oil industry. Already oil is being exported, and it is believed there may be extensive deposits.

NIGERIA NEEDS POWER

Great deposits of coal and natural gas also have been found. A United Nations' metallurgist now reaching West Greenland in 1587, is making a survey of rich iron ore deposits to see how they can be used. Like most African areas, Nigeria needs power in order to get out of its agricultural economy. The electricity potential of the Niger River is great, but hydro-electric projects are expensive. The government is considering damming the river at Jebba to produce around 500,000 kilowatts of power. This would require large foreign loans.

The national budget is just over $100,000,000 and the budgets of the three regional governments total about $180,000,000 annually. Per-capita income is about $70 a year.

Still, economists feel that with vision and help, the Nigerian economy could be expanded from its present agricultural base into something commensurate with the needs of the 34,000,000 people.

The real threat to Nigeria's success as a nation comes from the ethnic tensions bound up in its three regions. The northern region is twice the size of the other two—eastern and western regions—and has slightly more than half the population, but is the most backward of the three. There is no common language in the three areas.

Group For Retarded Children Pulls Out Of Community Chest

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Association for Retarded Children of British Columbia has decided to drop from the Greater Vancouver Community Chest to raise funds separately for an expanded program.

The decision was made at the annual convention here with representatives from across the province attending.

"We are a provincial organization and responsible to 40 chapters and communities outside Vancouver and the community chest should not be expected to meet our needs," said newly-elected president Gilbert Kitchen.

The association wants to raise funds for a travelling diagnostic clinic and residential centres throughout B.C. The community chest does not raise funds for capital expenditures.

Communist China Could Help Market In B.C. Lumbering Industry: Clyne

OTTAWA (CP)—A British Columbia lumber executive said here Canadian recognition of the Chinese Communist government might help B.C. recapture its large pre-war timber markets in China.

J. V. Clyne, chairman of the board of MacMillan and Blodell Limited of Vancouver, told the Commons' mines committee that he has received reports indicating that the Chinese Communists do not want to do business with countries which do not recognize their government.

"How we can get into the Chinese market again without recognition, I frankly do not know," he said.

Asked by H. M. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) whether he supports Canadian recognition of Red China, Mr. Clyne said "I have made public statements on the matter."

—Kootenay West) whether he supports Canadian recognition of Red China, Mr. Clyne said "I have made public statements on the matter."

NEEDN'T ELABORATE

J. W. Murphy (PC—Lambton West), committee chairman, said at this point that Mr. Clyne should not be obliged to elaborate.

Outside the committee, Mr. Clyne said he advocated recognition of Red China in a public statement more than a year ago. It was the only thing to do if Canada wanted to trade with the Chinese.

Mr. Clyne told the committee that he is satisfied that Red China has the dollars to buy B.C.

lumber. He had been told by members of a Chinese trade mission six months ago that Communist China was prepared to pay cash for Canadian goods provided Canada paid cash for Chinese products.

"We feel that Communist China needs our lumber," said L. R. Andrews, executive vice-president of the B. C. Lumber Manufacturers Association.

CAN'T COMPETE

Mr. Clyne said B.C. producers are finding it difficult to compete in the British market because of new trading policies adopted by Russian exporters.

He said the Russians are making contracts on the basis that if there is any reduction in price put the mill back into operation.

during the life of the contract, the buyer will receive a price reduction on prior deliveries.

"As far as lumber is concerned we just can't compete," Mr. Clyne said.

William Payne (PC—Coast-Capilano) criticized the purchase by a large United States Pulp Company of a small pulp company in B. C. He said the Canadian mill had been closed and its business diverted to the parent company in the U.S.

William Brettenbach, president of Alaska Pine and Cellulose Limited, said Alaska pine's parent, Rayonier Incorporated, had purchased two "broken down" B.C. pulp plants, one at Port Alice and the other at Wood Fibre.

He said $14,000,000 had been spent on the Port Alice plant and it now is operating. The mill at Wood Fibre was closed because it was producing a poor quality pulp for which there was no market.

He said the Russians are making contracts on the basis that if there is any reduction in price put the mill back into operation.

Scottish Custom Observed At Rites

Scottish tradition prevailed at the pretty evening wedding ceremony, when Ellen Ritchie and Robert Murray Black exchanged vows and rings before Rev. A. F. MacSweeney.

The candlelight, double-ring ceremony was performed at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Kamloops, where white blossoms and mauve stocks formed decorations.

The bride, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Ritchie of Kelowna, chose a floor-length organza gown with fitted bodice and long sleeves. The scalloped neckline was trimmed with seed pearls and opalescent sequins.

Her bouffant skirt was caught with a large bow at the front. A cascade of orange blossoms, caught her lace-edged fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white stephanotis surrounding a single mauve orchid, trimmed with a ribbon of the groom's tartan.

Mrs. John L. Ritchie of Kelowna, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Ritchie chose a pale blue street-length sheath with a full-skirted overdress of pale blue chiffon. She wore white accessories and carried a bouquet of yellow marguerites.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Black of Lanarkshire, Scotland, wore the traditional Highland dress, as did the ring bearer, best man and ushers. Ring bearer was Stuart Ritchie of Kelowna, nephew of the bride. Best man was George Girvan of Kamloops. Ushers were Keith Shearer and Bill

Wood, also from Kamloops. At the close of the ceremony each was presented with a Bible by the congregation to commemorate the first wedding performed in the newly-completed church.

During the signing of the register Mrs. David Arnott sang "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied by George Mugford at the organ.

George Allison, also in kilts, piped the couple from the church. In keeping with an old Highland custom, the groom showered coins on the waiting crowd from the steps of the church.

A reception and dance followed at Alex's Bar-B-Q. Receiving guests with the bride's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heron, uncle and aunt of the groom. Mr. Girvan proposed the toast to the bride.

For the honeymoon trip the bride wore a pale blue silk print with navy gabardine duster coat and beige accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet. Miss Joyce MacSweeney caught the bridal bouquet.

Telegrams of congratulations were received from Scotland, London, California, Ontario, Edmonton, Vernon and Kelowna. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Elizabeth Fraser of Vancouver, grand aunt of the groom; Mrs. Donald Stebbing of Vancouver, the groom's cousin; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nicholson of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray Dell, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Ritchie, Mrs. George Balfour, Mrs. Hazel McDougall, Mrs. George Benmore, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. F. Sutton, Mr. and

Musically Speaking

By BETHEL STEELE

Musically speaking Kelowna school district has reached a milestone on its long journey towards the achievement of high musical standards set by the Okanagan Musical Festival and those sincere musicians who know and endeavor to set those standards.

Friday night's Senior High School Bands and Symphony Concert was a revelation in more ways than one. I shall not attempt a resume of the program. That has been done before me. Those not in attendance missed an exceptional experience.

A school music program has many aspects, of which the music itself and the person responsible are perhaps the most important. Music at its finest is beautiful and Friday night we heard beautiful music.

I heard light and shadow. In the symphony there was an attempt to achieve a longer phrase line. The strings were more in tune and the students are at last using a vibrato which as it develops will give greater resonance to the tone. The "cello section is mellow and rich. Perhaps when the violins are more sure of themselves they can give a stronger pressure of the bow. In fact they need to use a much longer bow.

SPENDING... the holiday weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Piddocke of the Ellison district, was Miss Penny Piddocke of Dawson Creek.

VISITS MOTHER... Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morison and son, of Haney, visited the former's mother, Mrs. Tom Morison, Abbott St., over the holiday weekend.

COAST HOLIDAY... Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Trueman journeyed to Vancouver for a few days over the long holiday.

VISITORS... in town over the weekend were Mr. Cyril Gillanders and his daughter Miss Beth Gillanders of Vancouver who visited Mrs. D. J. Kerr, and Miss E. B. Walker during their stay.

FORMER RESIDENTS... Mr. and Mrs. Mark Rose and family of New Westminster were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pettman for the holiday.

ENJOYING... a holiday with Mrs. C. H. Daley for a few days during the long holiday have been her brother-in-law and sister, Canon and Mrs. Arthur Elliott, who are returning to their home in Vancouver today.

HERE... for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Torvald Tostenson over the holiday, were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tostenson and their family from North Vancouver.

SPENDING... ten days with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Holmes, are Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Bishop of Vancouver.

STATES TRIP... Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fumerton have returned from a few days spent recently in Portland Ore.

THE LONG WEEKEND... was enjoyed at Boston Bar by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mear, who visited their son-in-law and daughter there.

do you know how many people you pleased that night. Last but not least was the high school band.

The old order changeth is indeed true in this case. From the listening standpoint the band has suffered in the over-all change. The reason is that soft playing is the hardest to control, more so in wind instruments than in any other. The band is no longer over blowing and naturally when the dynamic scale calls for soft playing there are immediate difficulties. Pitch suffers and the breathing can not carry the line of the phrase and breaks occur in the wrong places. The playing is musical. I particularly enjoyed the little pressures used to turn the phrases. The rhythm now has pulse rather than beat.

Mr. McKinley has a most difficult position to fill. He supervises all of School District No. 23. He is a fine musician and a dedicated teacher. But—please do not expect too much of him. This year he will lose most of his key musicians. The change of policy in keeping the Junior separate from the High School means that there will be two or three years in which the music program will mark time while the students catch up with it.

Mr. McKinley is determined to make music possible for all students by forming choral groups in all schools. This in itself will be an achievement for Kelowna, and from a musician's standpoint more important than any other effort, because wherever there is choral work the musicianship immediately improves and the pitch of the various instruments becomes more dependable.

My advice to Kelowna is to take this man to its heart and cherish him. He is a gentle person and his personality can already be felt throughout the school system. The sense of serenity felt Friday night has never been there before.

Mr. McKinley is teaching our children to play and love beautiful music. They are making beautiful sounds. I wish my son could have known him.

Therapy School Planned For UBC

At the recent monthly meeting of CARS the members heard from Bruce Smith, delegate to the provincial branch, that owing to a vacancy in the office of Dean of Medicine at UBC there had been a delay in work on establishing a School of Therapy there. The office is now filled, and the new president is reported very sympathetic and working hard to bring this school into being. Funds collected have been set aside for the school.

C. R. Bull reported that in connection with the campaign for funds in rural districts of Kelowna served by CARS, all news media had given generous publicity. The campaign was satisfactory up to date, he stated, and more than 50 per cent of the quota has already been reached.

Miss Jocelyn Stephens, physiotherapist for Kelowna branch, gave an interesting report on a convention she had attended in Vancouver. There were lectures on inter-departmental relations, branch relationships, salary scales and fees.

Dr. Fenwick, travelling consultant for Kelowna and district, gave news of the latest drugs. Dr. Bagnall spoke on latest techniques of injection and a very profitable morning was had when visiting UBC hearing and seeing what was being done in the field of research for arthritis.

Prize Fighting Commish Check Gangster Activity

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California boxing commission started a hearing today on reports that underworld forces have tried to muscle in on welterweight champion Don Jordan's manager-fal contract.

Police Chief William H. Parker says the intelligence division of his department has been working with commission investigators for several weeks. He said the hearing would produce evidence that gang elements have plotted to Louis Dragna and Joe Sica, identified by Chief Parker as gangland characters, are among those to be subpoenaed. Others are Truman Gibson, head of the National Boxing Enterprises in Chicago; Bill Daly, New York City fight manager; Don Nesseth, Nesseth has openly charged that Frank (Blinky) Palermo of Philadelphia tried to move in on his contract with Jordan.

The police moved in on Blinky only recently. They arrested him at the airport in connection with an 80-cent newsstand theft, presumably during the time the police investigation of the fight game here was in progress.

Duck Weather For Dogs At Orchard City Trials

It was real duck weather for the retriever trials held at Reiwig's Slough over the holiday weekend.

In spite of the chill in the air and the brisk wind that blew the "ducks" swiftly, making it hard work for the dogs, the meet was pronounced a success by contestants. Plans are already being formulated for making the event an annual affair.

Top dogs in the meet were "Love's Black George," owned by Dr. Paul P. Jackson of Vancouver, handled by Lloyd Love of Burnaby, winner of the open event; "Ace of Country Club," owned and handled by Robert Postlethwaite of North Vancouver, winner of the qualifying stake; "Black Baas Zekali of Dogline," owned and handled by Clarence Holmes of Vernon, winner of the junior event; and "Belle of Macchoudale," owned and handled by James Harvey of Vernon, awarded the reserved certificate of merit.

MERIT AWARDS

Certificates of merit were also handed out to "Sinner's Bulldozer of Crevamoy," the national champion retriever in 1958, owned and handled by William Sinner of New Westminster; "Ace of Country Club," owned and handled by Postlethwaite, and "Love's Black," owned and handled by Lloyd Love of Burnaby.

The next show in the Okanagan region will be the Kamloops newly-formed retriever club's picnic trials on Sunday, June 14.

Judges for the meet were: Mike Oswell and Allen Frisby, North Surrey.

DETROIT (CP) — Canada has served notice she doesn't intend to slacken her traditional hold on the world amateur hockey laurels.

The notice came Tuesday night in the form of a long list of new regulations regarding Canada's future entries in world hockey tournaments. The rules were passed during the fourth day's sessions of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Any Canadian team selected for Olympic and world competition now will be allowed to add 10 top Canadian players to its regular roster.

The team will be allowed to list as many as 15 players at the start of the hockey season. These players must be given releases by their respective clubs on demand, although the players themselves will be able to refuse to partici-

Canada's entry in the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Cal.

The CAHA's general meeting, local point of the five-day convention, was postponed until today when committee discussion of several contentious issues took longer than expected Tuesday.

In other action during the day the convention agreed to boost to $3,500 from $3,000 the grant to each branch of the association for promotion of minor hockey.

The money will come from a fund established by a recent amateur agreement signed between the CAHA and the National Hockey League.

The convention also agreed to provide special assistance for four junior teams in the form of permission to sign additional branch imports. Hamilton's Junior OHA entry and Melville, Sask., were both allowed two players, while Brandon and Moose Jaw were each allowed four.

GOALIE PENALTY

The CAHA decided to go along with the NHL in the pro league's plans to assess a minor penalty against a goalkeeper leaving his crease to make a deliberate stoppage of play. The rule is said designed to deal with the style of Montreal Canadiens' Jacques Plante.

V's Are Shunned By Exec Types

PENTICTON (CP) — A temporary committee was named here Tuesday night to represent Penticton V's at a proposed meeting later this month of Okanagan Senior Hockey League teams and civic officials from Vernon, Kelowna, Penticton and Kamloops.

The committee was formed when the Penticton club's nominating committee failed to find any candidate willing to act on the new executive.

The tentative late-May meeting is being held to discuss ways and means of keeping the league alive.

With all teams in the league in financial difficulties, there is hope for some concessions or assistance from the various civic bodies represented in the teams' home towns.

India Pale Ale

is here!

This is the Ale that people have been asking Labatt's for ever since we commenced brewing in British Columbia.

This is the Ale that so many of our friends from Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes (and service men who visited these provinces) remember as the ale that really tastes like an ale.

This is the Ale whose unique strength and flavour have brought it world wide recognition as a truly distinctive product of Canada's brewing industry.

This is the Ale that has won more international awards for quality than any other Canadian malt beverage.

This is the Ale that is a part of the history of the Empire itself. In the 18th century the Imperial Army requested the master brewers of England to compete in brewing a special type of ale to be shipped to the Indian garrisons. The ale was to have sufficient strength, flavour and body to stand the long sea voyage to India in wooden casks without deterioration of quality. The brew selected became known throughout the world as INDIA PALE ALE—the direct ancestor of Labatt's famous IPA—full bodied—full strength—full flavoured—the Man's Ale in every sense of the word! Only Labatt's make it.

Boxing's Speedy Swede Plans Patterson Battle

By JACK HAND
GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Ingemar Johansson is working on one basic theme. Floyd Patterson must be better than he was the night he defended his world heavyweight title against Brian London in Indianapolis.

"We have 20 better than London in Europe," said the unbeaten European champion from Sweden who fights Patterson June 25 at Yankee Stadium.

"Patterson beat him bad enough and knocked him out when London got tired. But Henry Cooper beat London just as bad without knocking him out.

"I'm not saying that Patterson is bad. I am just saying that I think he must be better than he looked against London."

The handsome Swede is installed in this Catskill resort with family, fiancé and sparring partners. He plans to work out six days a week, taking Mondays off.

"Next week I will get some more sparring partners," he said Tuesday after boxing four rounds with Charley Norkus of New York and his brother Rolf, an amateur. "I am going to get a welterweight and a lightweight. I do that in Sweden so I might as well do it here when I am fighting for the world title. I need speed most of all."

Rookie Racer Hurt Fatally On Speedway

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The 50th death in 50 years was charged today against treacherous turns and hard concrete walls of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in the most disastrous practice period since 1937.

Rookie Bob Cortner, 32, of Redlands, Calif., died Tuesday night of severe head injuries, the second victim this year of preliminaries to the 500-mile race May 30.

Cortner, a 10-year veteran of midget car racing but new to the big cars, had completed his speedway driver's test only Monday. After passing the final 130-mile-an-hour phase, he was permitted to drive as fast as he liked.

HIT CROSS WIND

He wheeled his new Corns Special into the northeast turn a little too high and was caught by a cross wind. The car spun into the infield and whipped back across the track to crunch against the retaining wall almost head on.

The wreck-strew introduction of new drivers left only seven approved rookies after Cortner's death and today is the last day for tests this year. There are a half-dozen other drivers who have never started in the race but who took the tests in previous years.

Among the 50 killed in the history of the race are 29 drivers, 14 mechanics and seven spectators.

Olympic Games Setting Cherry Blossoms In 64

ROME (AP) — The tip here is that the Olympic Games will go to Tokyo in 1964 and to Buenos Aires in 1968.

Saturday the International Olympic Committee meets in Munich to make the decision on the 1964 Games and to make some preliminary explorations on the site for four years later.

Four cities have entered intensified bidding for the 1964 Games—Tokyo, Detroit, Vienna and Brussels.

Representatives of the national committees met Tuesday night to discuss some of the issues likely to arise at Munich.

Little was said of the 1964 Olympics but it appeared Tokyo and Detroit were the frontrunners, with the Japanese capital a little bit ahead.

One element in favor of Tokyo is the law of averages. The closest any Olympic event has come to an Asian country was at Melbourne, Australia, in 1956.

The Japanese metropolis was awarded the Olympics for 1940 but the Second World War intervened. The Japanese argue that if the Olympics are to be truly world-wide they should be held in Asia, which never has had the Games.

By the same token, no Olympics ever have been held in South America. This strengthens Buenos Aires' bid for 1968.

The 1960 Games will be in Rome.

Employed Or No, U.B.C. Will Row

VANCOUVER (CP) — Competition in recent years, having Dave Hellwell of the University of British Columbia rowing crews the British Empire Games in said today the club's training program will be continued in spite of the fact that six of 24 crew members still are out of work.

"If the unemployed are forced to find summer work out of town, we will train with a minimum of one eight and one four crew," Hellwell said.

The U.B.C. oarsmen, who work later that year won the middle-out in conjunction with the Vancouver Rowing Club, are training daily for the Pan American games trials July 25 in St. Catharines, Ont.

It was feared earlier that the program would be called off for the year when 14 of the oarsmen were unable to find summer employment in the city. All except six now have found jobs here.

U.B.C. crews have had considerable success in international competition.

ANCIENT BUILDER

Stone edifices and canals were built in Mexico in the 13th century by Acapulchilli, king of the Mexican Aztecs.

Oceola Trapsters Set Shoot Date

WINFIELD—Sunday, May 24, is the date set for the trap shoot at the Oceola Fish and Game Club grounds. Shooting will also be done with .22 rifles.

Date for the shoot was fixed at the regular monthly meeting of the game group, held at the home of R. Berry, with president J. Richards in the chair.

The meeting also decided to set up the official weigh station for the fish derby at the Lake-shore store. The contest started May 1 and will continue until October 1. It is open to members of the club only.

Dairies and bacon factories, among Denmark's largest industries, are nearly all co-operative undertakings.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Pete Latzo won the world welterweight boxing crown from Mickey Walker on a 10-round decision at Scranton, Pa., 33 years ago tonight. Walker moved up among the middleweights and later that year won the middle-out in conjunction with the Vancouver Rowing Club, are training daily for the Pan American games trials July 25 in St. Catharines, Ont.

Misuse Of Unemployment Insurance Funds Alleged

OTTAWA (CP)—Misuse of unemployment insurance funds in 200 members in the construction industry, made the subject of a study by the Canadian Construction Association, considered proposed government amendments to the unemployment insurance act.

T. C. Urquhart of Montreal, CCA representative on the government's unemployment insurance advisory committee, suggested provisions of the act have a tendency to encourage strikes and called for its complete overhaul. An association brief also declared that "misuse of unemployment insurance funds for the payment of benefits to claimants affected by labor disputes — both strikes and lockouts — must be prevented through provisions of the act."

FOR TOMORROW
Routine matters should go well now, but do be careful about details. Even minor errors could prove costly in the long run. Some news in the P.M. should bring you great happiness.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, you have every reason to be optimistic now, since good influences prevail for you, not only for the balance of this year but well into 1960. Where personal matters are concerned, domestic and social activities will be under excellent aspects and, if you are single, new romance is a distinct likelihood—with the possibility of marriage, sudden or otherwise, in June, October or December.

In job matters which, in the case of Gemini, are more often not found in the creative field, you are currently in a fine cycle for capitalizing on original ideas, and this cycle should last for many months to come. However, you'll have to work hard to capitalize on your ideas since a Saturn influence, which will prevail off and on throughout the year, demands hard work. You can't expect immediate gains while this planet is in control. July should bring excellent results for your efforts along job, financial and property lines, however; also, late August, mid-October and December. With the end of 1959, an unusually propitious Jupiter-Uranus aspect will encourage all new ventures. A truly auspicious beginning for 1960!

A child born on this day will be endowed with fine imagination, originality and literary ability.

Stroke Victim's Family Can Aid His Recovery

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Recovery from a stroke is the rule, not the exception. Winston Churchill and the famed scientist, Louis Pasteur, are prime examples. Pasteur did some of his best work during the 27 years after he had suffered a severe stroke.

Very often, however, this recovery is a long process and it usually places quite a burden on the rest of the family.

Rather than give advice for stroke victims to follow, today I would like to pass on a few tips to their families.

It is a great boost to his morale if he feels useful. So don't put him on the sidelines and expect him to occupy himself with radio or television.

Make him a part of the family activities, help him keep in contact with the world as he knew it before his attack. Help him pursue old hobbies or develop new ones.

In short, help the patient help himself.

Take this hand, for instance. Suppose South lets East win the opening lead with the ten of spades and then wins the spade return with the ace. What should declarer do next?

If he leads the queen of diamonds and takes a finesse, which seems to be a perfectly natural thing to do, East takes the king and returns a spade. South wins and has eight tricks available. When he later tries the heart

Racial Riots Flare Again In Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—A threat to form "strong-arm squads" to protect Negroes living in London's Notting Hill district was blasted Tuesday by two leading newspapers.

Both The Manchester Guardian and The Daily Telegraph warned that the plan would bring further violence to the neighborhood, hit by race riots last year.

The demand for "strong-arm squads" of whites and Negroes was made by a Trotskyite organization called the Socialist Labor League. It said the squads would operate to protect residents—including 6,000 Negroes—against violence.

Racial bitterness, simmering under the surface since the riots last summer, flared up again with the slaying of West Indian Kelso Cochrane, 32, by a gang of white youths Saturday night.

SEE ROBBERY MOTIVE
Police said robbery, not race, may have led to Cochrane's death. An empty wallet was found on the body.

Dunton Claims Universities Need More Aid

VANCOUVER (CP)—Davidson Dunton said Tuesday that Canadian universities now are hampered by inadequate resources and, with steadily rising enrollment, "the outlook for the future is still darker."

Mr. Dunton, former CBC chairman and now president of Carleton University in Ottawa, told a luncheon meeting of the Vancouver Canadian Club.

"The theory, fact, it seems to me, is that in this country we are semi-starving our universities. We call it higher education, and actually we give it a pretty low place on our totem pole. We pay verbal respect to higher learning, but don't seem to want to pay the relatively small amount of money it needs."

Harry Oakes Probe Will Be Reopened

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — The Bahamas House of Assembly voted unanimously Tuesday, asking the government to reopen the investigation of the 1943 murder of Canadian millionaire Sir Harry Oakes.

The resolution asked that Scotland Yard be assigned to investigate the sensational unsolved murder. Raymond Schindler, an American detective, claimed he had information that would crack the case.

Member Harold C. Christie, who was a house guest of Sir Harry on the night he was bludgeoned to death, voted for the resolution. The reopening was asked by Cyril Stevenson, editor of the Nassau Herald.

Count Alfred de Marigny, husband of Sir Harry's daughter, Nancy, was tried on a murder charge and acquitted. The body of Sir Harry, who made a fortune in Canadian gold mines, was found in a bedroom of one of his Nassau homes.

More 'Varsity Aid Necessary Claims Grauer

VANCOUVER (CP) — A. E. (Dal) Grauer, chancellor of the University of British Columbia, says a stepped-up program of financial aid for university students must come soon in Canada to prevent wastage of talent.

He told students and guests at graduating ceremonies Tuesday night: "The time is fast approaching when we will be obliged to make that financial investment in education which will permit every young Canadian who has the ability to attend university."

"There will be dangerous waste of human resources unless we do everything we can to ensure education for every citizen to the degree which best suits his intellectual capacity."

Mr. Grauer conferred honorary degrees on A. Davidson Dunton, president of Carleton University, Ottawa, and Dr. Charles E. Odegaard, president of University of Washington, in the first day of the two-day graduation ceremonies.

About 490 students received degrees Tuesday. Another 590 will receive degrees today.

Will Reopen Tranquille

VANCOUVER (CP) — The former Tranquille tuberculosis sanatorium in Kamloops will be reopened in June as a home for the mentally retarded, Health Minister Martin said.

He told a weekend convention of the Association for Retarded Children of B.C. that 130 inmates of Woodlands School in suburban Burnaby will be moved to Tranquille in June and another 130 will follow in 12 months.

"By 1961, the sanatorium will hold 260 persons, and it can be enlarged to hold 700 or 800 persons if necessary," Mr. Martin said.

The convention voted to urge the National Association for Retarded Children in Canada and the United States to lobby for a change in laws which hinder parents from taking their mentally retarded children across the Canada-U.S. border.

YMCA Plans Major India Building Plan

By RUSSELL ELMAN

BANGALORE, India (CP) — Funds are being raised by YMCAs across Canada for a major YMCA building program in India, marking more than 50 years' close association between the two countries to this field.

Since the beginning of the century, the Canadian YMCA in money and personnel has played a significant part in developing India's 35,000-member association. It financed buildings, helped set up India's first school of physical education, and organized training courses.

At Bangalore, a south Indian industrial city of 1,400,000, the YMCA was established in 1905 by the late J. Lovell Murray of Toronto. This year a new students' centre may be constructed with assistance from the Montreal YMCA.

"The Canadian YMCA helped put us on our feet," said R. J. Solomon, general secretary of the 1,000-strong Bangalore YMCA. "Our buildings were Canadian gifts and through Canadian assistance we were able to become self-supporting in personnel."

CANADIAN DIRECTOR

Today 50-year-old Jack Dunderdale, a former YMCA secretary in Winnipeg, Windsor and Toronto, is on loan from the Canadian YMCA to direct YMCA staff training in India and Ceylon. Under his guidance a YMCA school has been set up on the campus of the United Theological College in Bangalore.

Each year five to 10 trainees, including an occasional representative from Pakistan, Thailand or Burma, attend the school on grants given jointly by the Canadian and United States YMCAs.

So far 53 men have taken the course—about half of the total YMCA working force in the area.

$1,500,000 Mansion Turned Over To Lieut.-Governor And Mrs. Ross

VICTORIA (CP) — British Columbia's new Government House is built to last for up to 300 years. Provincial Works Minister Chant said Tuesday as the new $1,500,000 mansion was opened to visitors for the first time.

He spoke at ceremonies marking the official opening of the building by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross.

After unveiling a commemorative plaque, the lieutenant-governor told an audience that included cabinet ministers, members of the legislature and their wives: "This house has a little bit of the past, something of the present, and yet it contains nothing that is too extreme."

"This house is built for our lifetime and long after we're gone."

PLAQUE UNVEILED

Premier Bennett presented Mr. Ross with a gold-plated key for his official residence and, smiling broadly, said: "I hope you and Mrs. Ross live in this beautiful home for many, many years."

As the plaque was unveiled, the Red Ensign of Canada was run up on the new 80-foot flagpole in front of the stone portico—all that remains of the old government house, which was destroyed by fire two years ago.

Mrs. Bennett, wife of the premier, presented Mrs. Ross with a painting by B.C. artist Mary Hamilton of the Chopin statue in the Luxembourg gardens in Paris.

The press will be taken on a tour of the mansion tomorrow. Its first official guests will be Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip during their two-day visit to Victoria in July.

Rugged Kurd Tribesman Will Not Submit To Reds

Editors: One of the weapons the Soviet Union is employing to maintain ferment in the Middle East is the desire of the Kurd tribes for independence. AP foreign news analyst William L. Ryan reports here from the Iran-Iraq border on strong anti-Communist feelings among some of the Kurds.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PASVEH, Iran (AP) — Thousands of Kurd tribesmen have fled across the rugged northwest Iranian frontier from Iraq rather than submit to domination by a pro-Communist chieftain.

There was sharp fighting in the frontier area as recently as four days ago, when about 5,000 Kurds crossed into Iran. Others of the tribe have fled into Turkey.

This information comes from Amir Aly Ashevara, the head khan (landlord) of a huge area occupied by Kurds of the Mamash tribe. He owns this village and about 150 other Kurdish villages in the southwestern part of Iran near the Iraqi border.

The Kurds, under a leader identified as Sheikh Raschid, left 13 Barzani tribesmen dead after a fight with them and Iraqi gendarmes. The man said Raschid lost two dead and had two wounded.

SPRINKLING REGULATIONS

VERNON — Regulations for use of water for gardens and lawns are under consideration again, particularly at night time, when, it is claimed, some hoses are left running all night long, wasting water.

Cool Weather Retards Okanagan Plant Growth

Cool weather in April has retarded growth in the Okanagan to the point where the tree-fruit season is one week behind last year, the B.C. Department of Agriculture reported.

The cool-weather setback is in addition to a cold snap in January, which thinned peach and apricot crops and a late-April frost which damaged fruit buds.

In some areas and a severe spring frost further damaged the apricot and peach crop, also causing reduction in cherries and apples. Pears and Italian prunes, however, did not appear reduced significantly.

In the Oliver-Osoyoos area, spring frosts did damage to all fruit crops with peaches, apricots, delicious apples and cherries worst hit. Some blocks were practically wiped out although others were untouched.

In the Penticton, Naramata, Kaledon, Okanagan Falls and Similkameen areas, winter and spring frosts reduced all fruit crops but loss could not be properly assessed until the set of fruit takes place and can be surveyed.

Tomato acreage at Cawston will probably be the lowest in at least nine years. Green peach aphid has shown up in alarming proportions in the Cawston area and has been working inside the blossoms to a large extent.

PEARKE'S NOT INTERESTED IN SENATORSHIP

VICTORIA (CP) — Defence minister Pearkes is not looking to a senatorship or an ambassador's post anywhere. When his work is done in Ottawa he's coming home to Victoria to retire.

That's what the 71-year-old defence minister said Tuesday when reporters questioned him about reports he may be going to the Senate or may become Canada's ambassador in Belgium or Holland.

He said the report was "a pure figment of the newspaper people."

"When my work is done, I will return to Vancouver Island as I have always intended," said the veteran MP for Esquimalt-Saanich.
